

PenCLAHRC Making Sense of Health Research Conference

16th November 2018, Buckfast Abbey Conference Centre

At PenCLAHRC we believe that better health care can be provided to patients by making decisions that are based on evidence. During this event our expert tutors will help you to discover how to use evidence to make effective health and social care decisions.

Draft Programme

09:00	Arrival & Refreshments
09:30	Welcome
09:45	Introduction
10:00	Plenary: Why do we need evidence based practice? (Keynote speaker: Dr David Nunan, Lead Tutor, Oxford Centre for Evidence Based Medicine)
	Practical exercise
11:00 - 11:15	Refreshments
	Workshop 1 (please see http://clahrc-peninsula.nihr.ac.uk/mse-modules for content)
11:15 - 12:45	Introduction to diagnostics	Introduction to synthesis (Systematic review)	Critical appraisal of a randomised control trial	Tracking down the evidence	Introduction to qualitative research
12:45 - 13:30	Lunch
13:30 - 15:00	Workshop 2 (please see http://clahrc-peninsula.nihr.ac.uk/mse-modules for content)
	SHERPA: A new model for applying Evidence Based Practice in the context of multimorbidity	Introduction to synthesis (Systematic review)	Critical appraisal of a randomised control trial	Tracking down the evidence	Introduction to qualitative research
15:00 - 15:15	Close and Refreshments

To register for your free place, please visit <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/making-sense-of-health-research-annual-conference-tickets-48874553104> or email peninsula-ebp@exeter.ac.uk to request a link to the booking page

Please note: places are limited and priority will be given to applicants based within the South West Peninsula.