

Digital Skills Bootcamps

The aim of the course is to create a health and social care workforce fit for the digital future.

Staff attending this programme will gain new knowledge and skills that they can be applied to the whole of the organisation, including

- Motivation to use software and applications to improve efficiency and communication within the organisation
- Ability to upskill all staff with digital skills, helping them to work better with IT systems
- Identifying staff with low digital skills and providing extra support
- Supporting patients, residents or service users with digital skills needs, especially in remote environments
- Updating the organisation on new technologies and ways to reduce costs of IT

To apply you must be over 24 and not hold a qualification at degree-level.

Training will be delivered virtually and begin week commencing 4th January, with sessions running for 12 weeks on either a Wednesday, Thursday or Friday between 1-4pm.

The initial deadline to book a place is close of play on 15th December 2020.
